

UNITED ARAB EMIRATES
MINISTRY OF INTERIOR

Join the 2025 I2LEC Online Open Training Program

BLOCK 2: Hazardous Substances and Poisons

Dates: 29-30 September 2025

Time: 15:00–16:30 CET

Format: Webinar

Day 1 – Monday, 29 September 2025

Time (CET)	Session	Description
15:00–15:10 I2LEC	Opening and Training Overview	Welcome by I2LEC Overview of training objectives
15:10–16:30 Irene Zorrilla Wildlife Analysis and Diagnostics Center (CAD) Division of Environment and Sustainability	Toxic compounds, detection and toxic-specific signs and effects on animals	The speaker will present the work of the Wildlife Analysis and Diagnosis Center (CAD) of Andalusia in the investigation of wildlife poisoning incidents. The intervention will address the principal toxic compounds, their mechanisms of action, and clinical signs, as well as methodologies for sample collection, advanced toxicological analyses, and the preparation of forensic reports to support legal proceedings.

Join the 2025 I2LEC Online Open Training Program

BLOCK 2: Hazardous Substances and Poisons

Day 2 – Tuesday, 30 September 2025

Time (CET)	Session	Description
15:00–15:05 I2LEC	Recap and Introduction	Summary of Day 1 and Introduction to Day 2
15:05–15:30 Mário Kern Founder and first director of the environmental police in Slovakia	Understanding the Threats of Hazardous Materials and Poisons in Environmental Crime	This section explores the complex role of hazardous materials and poisons in environmental crime, examining their sources, methods of use, and the profound risks they pose to biodiversity, and ecosystems.
15:30–16:00 Roberto Sanchez CBD Hábitat Foundation and WWF España	Case study: Iberian Imperial Eagle	Case study: Iberian Imperial Eagle, an endangered species, and the use of new technologies to detect poisoning cases.
16:00–16:30 Pablo Ayerza Legal Advisor of WWFSpain on Environmental Crime	Combating Poisoning in Spain: A Success Case	This case study showcases Spain’s coordinated efforts to tackle wildlife poisoning, combining operational field actions with intelligence work and robust legal investigations.